Reflection on the First Reading: Acts 4: 7-12

Today's first reading from the Acts of the Apostles, features yet another speech from Peter. This fourth speech is the first directed at the leaders and elders of the people, and it addresses the same event as last week: the healing of a man crippled from birth. Whereas last week's speech to the people was explanatory and received a sympathetic hearing (Acts 4:4), this speech was confrontational, and the disciples are met with skeptical questioning.

Having been taken into custody while they were speaking to the people, Peter and John are questioned by the Sanhedrin regarding their authority and their use of the name through which the crippled man was healed. Peter boldly clarifies that it is the power of Jesus Christ, and God who raised Him, that healed the crippled man. The use of "healed" echoes Acts 2:21, where Peter declared that "everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved." As in earlier speeches, Peter states that they (the people and the leaders) had crucified Jesus. But now he goes further. By citing and slightly altering Psalm 118:22, Peter replaces the image of the stone rejected with the stone scorned, representing the attitude of the leaders towards Jesus in Luke 18:9. The entire scene echoes Luke 21:13-15, where Jesus predicted that the disciples' opponents would be unable to refute them. In the end, Peter courageously proclaims that salvation can be found only in this name, and none other. Strikingly, the leaders and elders receive no call for conversion at the end. Our Lady of Good Counsel

by Rev. Matthew R. Mauriello
The church that enshrines the original painting of Our Lady of Good Counsel is located in the small town of Genazzano, about thirty miles southeast of Rome. As early as the fifth century, the people of Genazzano were greatly devoted to the Blessed Virgin Mary. When Pope Sixtus III

(432- 440) asked for donations to restore the Basilica of St. Mary Major in Rome, the faithful were generous in their support. Shortly thereafter, they built a church dedicated to Our Lady of Good Counsel in Genazzano. The church was entrusted to the care of the Augustinian Fathers in 1356.

With the passage of time, it was necessary to repair the church and it appeared that only a local widow, Petruccia de Geneo, was willing to aid with the financing of the restoration. She was criticized by some of her neighbors but her efforts were rewarded by the miraculous event of April 25, 1467.

According to legend, the entire town was participating in the yearly feast in honour of St. Mark the Evangelist. The church was still unfinished and roofless when the image of the Madonna and Child was transported there from its former location in Scutari, Albania. Around four o'clock that afternoon, the multitude of people saw a mysterious cloud descend upon the church. The church bells rang of their own accord and the cloud parted revealing the portrait. The image, fifteen inches wide by seventeen inches high, came to rest on a narrow ledge in the church and remains in that position to this day. The painting is a fresco, painted on a thin layer of plaster as thin and fragile as an egg shell.

Within weeks, two refugees from Albania arrived in Genazzano. They testified before the papal delegation that the same image was in a church in the Albanian town of Scutari only a few weeks earlier. When the town was on the verge of being invaded, the portrait was miraculously relocated for its own protection. The commission verified that there was indeed an empty space in the plaster wall of the church at Scutari, the exact size of the portrait. The unfinished church was soon completed after the miraculous event of April 1467 and became a place of pilgrimage. Within the first six months alone, over 170 healings and miracles were recorded.

The miraculous image, at first called the Madonna of Paradise, has always been regarded with special favor by the Apostolic See. Pope Paul II (1464-1471) called for an investigation and gave initial approval to devotion to Our Lady of Good Counsel. Pope St. Pius V (1565-1572) attributed the victory in the Battle of Lepanto to the help of Our Lady of Good Counsel. In 1753, Pope Benedict XIV approved the placing of a gold crown over the image and in 1779 Pope Pius VI granted the Augustinian Order the special privilege of celebrating the feast day each year on April 26. Pope Pius IX (1846-1878) had special devotion to Our Lady under this title and made a pilgrimage to Genazzano in 1864.

More than any other pope, Pope Leo XIII (1878- 1903) had a deep love for this devotion. He was born in the town of Carpineto, not far from the Church of Our Lady of Good Counsel, and elevated the shrine to the status of a Minor Basilica. In 1903, he inserted the title "Mater Boni Consilii" into the Litany of Loreto and also had a copy of the image installed in the Pauline Chapel of the Vatican Basilica.

Pope Pius XII (1939-1958) dedicated his entire pontificate to the Madonna of Good Counsel and Saint Pope John XXIII (1958-1963) made a visit to the shrine in 1959. The present church was built in 1628.

In World War II, a bomb crashed through the roof, destroying the sanctuary and high altar. The fragile image of Our Lady of Good Counsel was only a few yards away but was miraculously undamaged.

Resurrectionist Vocation Minute - To what does God call? Fr. Peter Semenenko CR, the Co-Founder of the Resurrectionists, answers, "the individual is called to give himself to God completely, without restriction, and since this is a most sublime act, it must also be completely free". In responding to our vocation, we simply entrust ourselves entirely into the hands of Jesus, our Good Shepherd. If you are wondering how to discern if God is calling you to religious life, consider joining us for a Come and See Day. Fr. Pawel Szymanowski CR.

How do I discern a vocation to Religious Life? If you're looking to understand God's plan for you, join us for the 'Come and See' day retreat on May 25th at St. Mary's Parish. This retreat offers a chance to join community prayers, engage in discussions with three Resurrectionists, and meet other young people on a similar journey. For further details, please visit: //resurrectionists.ca/vocations/come-see/

Our next General Meeting will take place on Wed., May 1st beginning with Mass at 7 PM. Following Mass, we will have our Crowning of Mary ceremony and presentation of our service pins. We will then meet in the Large Hall for refreshments and a short meeting. Join us and bring a friend! All ladies 16 years of age and older are welcome.

Vacation Bible & Lego Robotics Camp 2024 – To Mars and Beyond – July 15-19. The camp will run all day. Campers have the choice of coming all day, or half a day. The morning will be focused on the space theme with faith intertwined through everything we do. The afternoon will be Lego Robotics, also with the space theme running throughout what they do. Ages for the all day camp is 7 to 11years old. Children 5 to 6 years old are welcome to sign up for the mornings only. Registration is now open. Forms available from the Nursery, the back of the church, or contact Kelly Krause at the parish office. Early bird discount ends on May 12. Please register soon.

Reel Justice Film Festival April 25th Join us from 7– 9 PM for the screening of Bigger Than Us. The film follows youth activist Melati Wijsen as she travels the world to meet other young activists like herself, striving to make the world a better place. Guest speaker Peter Mahfouz from Caritas Lebanon will speak to his work supporting youth initiatives in Lebanon and the strength of young people in supporting their communities. The screening and discussion will be hosted online via Zoom. Register at: https://reeljustice.hamiltondiocese.com. A partnership between the Bishop Farrell Library & Archives and Development and Peace, the Reel Justice Film Festival shines a spotlight on issues of social, political, and economic injustices.

Saint Mark's Story - Most of what we know about Mark comes directly from the NT. He is usually identified with the Mark of Acts 12:12. When Saint Peter escaped from prison, he went to the home of Mark's mother.

Paul and Barnabas took him along on the first missionary journey, but for some reason Mark returned alone to Jerusalem. It is evident, from Paul's refusal to let Mark accompany him on the second journey, that Mark had displeased Paul. Because Paul later asks Mark to visit him in prison, we may assume the trouble did not last long.

The oldest and the shortest of the four Gospels, the Gospel of Mark emphasizes Jesus' rejection by humanity while being God's triumphant envoy. Probably written for gentile converts in Rome—after the death of Peter and Paul sometime between A.D. 60 and 70—Mark's Gospel is the gradual manifestation of a "scandal": a crucified Messiah.

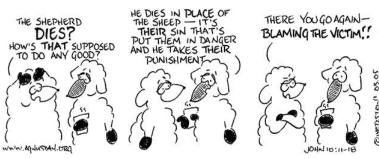

Evidently a friend of Mark—calling him "my son"—Peter is only one of this Gospel's sources, others being the Church in Jerusalem (Jewish roots), and the Church at Antioch (largely Gentile).

Mark was not one of the 12 apostles. We cannot be certain whether he knew Jesus personally. Some scholars feel that the evangelist is speaking of himself when describing the arrest of Jesus in Gethsemane: "Now a young man followed him wearing nothing but a linen cloth about his body. They seized him, but he left the cloth behind and ran off naked" (Mk 14:51-52). Others hold Mark to be the first bishop of Alexandria, Egypt. Venice, famous for the Piazza San Marco, claims Mark as its patron saint; the large basilica there contains his remains.

A winged lion is Mark's symbol. The lion derives from Mark's description of John the Baptist as a "voice of one crying out in the desert" (Mk 1:3), which artists compared to a roaring lion. The wings come from the application of Ezekiel's vision of four winged creatures to the evangelists. (From franciscanmedia.org)
