For Fourth Sunday of Easter-

The Good Shepherd Sunday

In ancient Palestine, shepherds allowed flocks to commingle and form one communal sheepfold. To gather his own flock, a shepherd called his sheep. Only his sheep recognized his voice and followed him. Jesus compares this shepherd-sheep relationship to his intimate bond with his disciples; he contrasts it with the cruelty of the “thief” and the “bandit” who care nothing for the sheep. The Good Shepherd’s sheep recognize, trust, and follow him because of his care and loving commitment. But, “they will not follow a stranger” who has not selflessly cared for them. Jesus is not only the shepherd, but also the “gate” to the sheepfold through which every would-be shepherd must pass. He distinguishes between the thieves who come only “to steal ... and destroy” and those, like himself, who provide access to fullness of life.

I AM THE GATE!

Excerpts: Message for National Week for Life and the Family by Paul-André Durocher, Archbishop of Gatineau, President of the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops.

In the Gospel for the Fourth Sunday of Easter, we hear these powerful words of Jesus: "I came that they might have life, and have it abundantly" (John 10.10). How can we not hear these words and give thanks for families which give life and give it in abundance? Families open our hearts to life, and give birth to our vision of life. Families enable us to come alive, sustain us in life, and give us our most important reasons to live, even when in difficulty. Families teach us to appreciate life.

I give thanks to God for my family: it is with them I learned to believe, forgive, love, share, trust, to give thanks and show respect, to be honest and be filled with awe and wonder. In a Catholic family, moments such as Baptism, First Confession, First Communion, and Confirmation mark our journey in life, just as do marriage, ordination and the Anointing of the Sick. In a faith-filled family, even death manifests this continuity of faith and life, as brothers and sisters, parents and children gather to support one another in hope and trust. Families truly are schools of life!

I remember the words of Saint John Paul II as he reflected on the family: "The family finds in the plan of God the Creator and Redeemer not only its identity, what it is, but also its mission, what it can and should do.... Each family finds within itself a summons that cannot be ignored and that specifies both its dignity and its responsibility: family, become what you are!"

Pope Francis has also made the family one of his chief concerns. This October an Extraordinary Synod of Bishops will reflect on the challenges facing families in today's cultures. One year later a second, Ordinary Synod will propose concrete ways the Church can help all of Christ's faithful respond to these challenges. Let us pray for the success of both these Synods. Let us pray also for all families as they strive to become what they are meant to be: "Families united in the joy of the Lord."
