Reflection on the First Reading: Deuteronomy 4:32-34, 39-40

The celebration of the Most Holy Trinity, a fundamental Christian teaching, highlights the Christian belief that God's self-revelation is rooted in salvation history. The philosophical definitions, as expressed in the creeds are by St. Augustine, came centuries after the biblical writings, where believers pondered over God's identity as they expressed God's saving action in their midst.

Deuteronomy is the final book of the Torah/Pentateuch, bringing to a conclusion the historical period that formed Israel as a nation in covenant relationship with its God. Traditionally, the book is viewed as three discourses delivered by Moses to the people. The people are poised to cross the Jordan to reconquer the land after their long sojourn in Egypt and their wandering in the wilderness. Today's reading comes from the end of Moses' first discourse. Part of the theological heart of the book, Deuteronomy 4 exhorts the Israelites to abide by two basic principles: Monotheism and the prohibition of idolatry. The justification for these principles is found in Israel's historical experience, notably, the Exodus and the encounter with God at Horeb (Sinai).

In typical biblical fashion, the text recalls the community's experience of salvation history, such as liberation from Egypt and entry into the covenant at Horeb, and draws conclusions about God's identity. For example, presuming that the all-powerful and omnipresent God is the source and creator of all being ("God created man on the earth"), Moses declares that Israel's God is stronger than any nation or gods: no other god claimed a people as his own as God "did for you in Egypt." This first realization about God, based on the Exodus, leads to the second. Israel has entered into a covenant (statutes and commandments) with the mightiest and only God. Thus, based on their experience of God's saving power, Israel realizes that God is one (monotheism) and that their future prosperity rests on worshipping only this God (prohibition of idolatry).

Today we contemplate the Most Holy Trinity as Jesus introduced us to it. He revealed to us that God is love "not in the oneness of a single Person, but in the Trinity of one substance" (Preface). He is the Creator and merciful Father; He is the Only-Begotten Son, eternal Wisdom incarnate, who died and rose for us; He is the Holv Spirit who moves all things, cosmos and history, toward their final, full recapitulation. Three Persons who are one God because the Father is love, the Son is love, the Spirit is love. God is wholly and only love, the purest, infinite and eternal love. He does not live in splendid solitude but rather is an inexhaustible source of life that is ceaselessly given and communicated. To a certain extent we can perceive this by observing both the macro-universe: our earth, the planets, the stars, the galaxies; and the micro-universe: cells, atoms, elementary particles. The "name" of the Blessed Trinity is, in a certain sense, imprinted upon all things because all that exists, down to the last particle, is in relation; in this way we catch a glimpse of God as relationship and ultimately. Creator Love. All things derive from love, aspire to love and move impelled by love, though naturally with varying degrees of awareness and freedom. "O Lord, our Lord, how majestic is Your Name in all the earth!" (Ps 8: 1) the Psalmist exclaims. In speaking of the "Name", the Bible refers to God himself, His truest identity. It is an identity that shines upon the whole of Creation, in which all beings for the very fact that they exist and because of the "fabric" of which they are made point to a transcendent Principle, to eternal and infinite Life which is given, in a word, to Love. "In Him we live and move and have our being", St Paul said at the Areopagus of Athens (Acts 17: 28). The strongest proof that we are made in the image of the Trinity is this: love alone makes us happy because we live in a relationship, and we live to love and to be loved. Borrowing an analogy from biology, we could say that imprinted upon his "genome", the human being bears a profound mark of the Trinity, of God as Love.

The Virgin Mary, in her docile humility, became the handmaid of divine Love: she accepted the Father's will and conceived the Son by the power of the Holy Spirit. In her the Almighty built a temple worthy of Him and made her the model and image of the Church, mystery and house of communion for all human beings. May Mary, mirror of the Blessed Trinity, help us to grow in faith in the Trinitarian mystery.
