Sacramental "quick fix"

On March 31, April 7, April 14 and April 21 I placed a piece in our parish bulletin regarding parents who inquire about their children who have not been in catechism and have not received the sacraments of baptism, first communion and confirmation or any combination of these three. Of course, parents who fit into this category do not attend Mass and do not read the bulletin, so they are not aware of what I wrote. Since then we have had several inquiries about catechism, baptism, first communion and confirmation. Unfortunately, we do not have people who are willing to teach and spend time with these children on a one-to-one basis. If anyone is willing to teach some of these children on an individual basis, please let me know. This fall we will not be accepting individuals who fall into this category; not because we don't want to, rather because we do not have the personnel to accommodate them. It is important to keep children enrolled in catechism and not just to present them at the time of First Communion or Confirmation. Father Dominic

13th Sunday Ordinary Time

Introduction: In today's readings we hear about the power of faith. Right now we have the opportunity to approach Jesus with faith in his power to forgive and heal our sinfulness. May we receive humbly Jesus' love and response to our faith. .

Wisdom 1:13-15; 2:23-24 In the first reading, a wise teacher reminds us that we are created in the image of God. We are also surrounded by gifts leading us to heaven.

2 Corinthians 8:7, 9, 13-15 In the second reading, Paul encourages the people to be generous to the poor in Jerusalem. The generosity of Jesus is their model and motivation.

Mark 5:21-43 In the Gospel, faith brings new life to a synagogue official's ill daughter and to a woman who had suffered from hemorrhages for twelve years.
