Reflection: Today, Divine Mercy Sunday, completes the nine-day prayerful digestion of Crucifixion, commemorated on Good Friday. On the merit of Jesus Christ who died on the Cross, you and I are granted God's mercy. The experience of Christ's disciples locked behind the door reminds us of the pandemic lockdown experience. In both cases, all were afraid. We have all sinned and fallen short of God's glory. As sinners, we deserve condemnation and punishment as guilty. Hence, in justice, we are condemned, but in mercy, we are saved. O water and blood which flow from the side of Christ, save us and the whole world. May the Thomas in you not allow you to miss the recognition of Christ when He visits and salutes "shalom, peace". He conducts requisite instruction on the mysteries to enable any doubting Thomas to confidently make the profession of faith: "my Lord and my God." 'God's Word, Daily Reflections 2024'

Today, we learned about the Apostle Thomas, who did not believe that Jesus had risen from the dead until he saw this for himself. We rejoice because we believe though we have not seen.
Pray with our children for the grace to live in joy as true believers.
