Reflection: The first reading today takes us back to the origin of marriage. From this beautiful narrative, we understand that the union between a man and a woman is a sacred institution willed by God, and he defines the essence, properties and purpose. In a marriage, a man and a woman come together. They become united in heart and soul, and they form a partnership of life and love. In today's Gospel, Jesus defends the sacredness and indissolubility of marriage.

Marriage is not just a contract between a man and a woman; it is also a Sacrament, an outward sign of God's love for His people and Christ's love for the church, a love which is unconditional and eternal. Unfortunately, marriage today is under serious attack by the devil, who seeks to destroy every institution dear to the heart of God. We are therefore called upon to pray for the preservation of marriage and family life, to defend its sanctity according to God's intention and to stand against every legislation, custom and cultural practice that is inconsistent with its ideals. For those who are married, we are called to make genuine efforts, relying on God's grace to make our marriage work. Perhaps we could ponder these four values which are very vital to the sustenance of marriage, namely, allowing God to be at the centre of our relationship, mutual fidelity, forgiveness and good commutation. Exciting New Regional Youth Group Forming!!

Holy Redeemer, St. Paul the Apostle, St. Andrew the Apostle, and Christ the King are beginning a regional youth group that will meet at St. Charles College for children in grade 7 or higher. We will be able to use the gym for sports, the chapel for faith sharing, and have some food and fellowship too! Adult volunteers to facilitate the youth ministry are also needed. Please sign up to be a part of the regional youth group following your pastor's instructions. We hope to begin meeting in November. The day and time are not yet determined. They will depend on the availability of those who have signed up. Deadline for signing up is mid October.
